

END OF THE TRAIN ROBBER.

Gang Which Held Up the Great Northern Almost Wiped Out.

SOME ARE IN PRISON AND SOME DEAD

Camillo Hanks, Recently Killed at San Antonio, Was One of Them-Had a Long Record as a Bandit.

The man who was recently killed by officers at San Antonio and who was afterward identified as Camillo Hanks, had a record as one of the nerviest train robbers in the United States. His home was in West Texas, whence came other members of the gang which perpetrated the Great Northern hold up. A Pinkerton man has just been to San Antonio to positively identify the dead man, and he did so fully, He knew Hanks and has been trying to find him since December, 1806. This officer says Hanks was the man who, on October 27, last, in a hand-to-hand fight with two officers at Nashville, Tenn., fought clear of them, ran down the street, and, lump recovered from their wounds, and they are new recovered from their wounds. of them, ran down the street, and, jumping into an ice wagen, clubbed its detree, raced for life through a fasiliade of shots and when the wagon came to grief by one of the horses falling and breaking a leg. seled a horse and buggy and after a sen-sational ride, though badly wounded, reached the outskirts of the city and es-

"I am positive that the man killed by Officer Taylor last Wednesday morning is O. C. Hanks, one of the most courageous men in the country, and a man who would die before being taken. He was raised in and near Yorktown, Texas, He got into trouble there seventeen years age, and had to fig. He went to Montana, where he got in with Harry Longbaugh, a notorious desperado, and took to train robbing.

"One of the last train robberies he committed was at Malta, Mont., in 1802, in company with Longbaugh, Bill Madden and George Bass. Hanks and Longbaugh got away, but the other two were caught and sent up for ten years, which they have just served. Shortly afterward Hanks, with others, beld up and robbed a train at Big Timber, Mont. Hanks was capvey began, the chief and the clereless of all the train robbers that have operated in this country during the last twenty five years. To search of them, he went to Matta, Mont. in June line. Fallong to had them, he then went to Heriem, Mont. Mont. the Great Northern Whether he met them there I do not know, but on July 3, hast, the Great Northern train was held up at 2 o'clock p. m. at Wagner. Most., by three unmasked nem, O. C. Hanks, Harrey Legan and Ren Klipatrick of Paint Rock, Texas, They promoted $41,500. The bills belonged to the Montana National bank, and were unsigned, being on the way from Washington, D. C. to Heleim. The Pinkerton agency was called upon, and, procuring descriptions from the trainmen, we ascertained the robbers to be Harks, Logan and Kilpatrick.

"Shootly afterward Logan and a montang of the robbers to be Harks, Logan and a montang and a montang the states."

the robbers to be Highs, Logan and Kil-patrick,

"Shortly afterward, Logan and a weman named Delin Moore, who lived with Fan alle Porter, a sporting woman of San An-tonic, took a trip to Louislana, and later turned up in Nashville, Tenn, On October 14, last, the woman went to a bank to change some of the money, and was im-mediately arrested. She is still in custody, Logan got what of what had occurred and escaped.

ered from their wounds, and they are now inable to appear in court against him. The Plakertons wired the authorities at Knox ville that the man was Logan, and to make every effort to take him. He was captured there days later, thirty at miles from Knoxville, and is still in custody, awaiting trial.

Knowelle, and is still in custody, awaiting trial.

"Ben Klipatrick, was arrosted in December, 1991, at St. Louis, with a women nativel Laura Buillon, from Kalekerhocker, Texas. Between them they had Secto ar time money taken in the Great Northern robbers. Klipatrick got fifteen years in the United States perilientary at Columbia, Odin, and Laura Buillien got five years in the United States perilientary at Columbia, Odin, and Laura Buillien got five years in the Massouri penitentary.

"Hanks also went to Nashville, and on October 27, 1901, so attempt was made to arrest him, the result of trying to pass the stoles money. He simbled the officers and broke away and after one of the most desperate and tarilling chases any man ever had, made good his manpe. He then went to the ranch of his prother, in tallianan county. Texas, to recover from wounds received in his Nashville hattle, The next thing heard from him was the news of his killing in San Antonio, an event which rejoices the hearts of the next which rejoices the hearts of the news of his Killing in San Antonio, an event which rejoices the hearts of the people of the Northwest, for it winds up the warst part of the most desperate gang of rollders in this country.

"I consider that if Flanks had been perfectly sober he would have killed all three of the officers who took part in the teage dy hast Wednesdar. He was passivally a match for two men, as his placky Nasaville fight shows. Officer Taylor would have done wrong had he hositated to about."

The gang to which Hanks belonged was one of the most desperate in the country, ariginally comprised fill Corver, clid urrie, Harry Longhaugh. Ben Kilputrick, corge Parker, alias Butch Cassidy, and anks.

Carver and Kid Carrie were killed in a fight with officers at Senova, Texas. Kill-patrick was arrested at St. Louis and is now sorting a settlence of filteen years for forgery of Notheral bank notes stolen in the Wagner, Mont., robbery. Harvey Logan is under arrest at Knaxville, Tond. Logan and Longbaugh were in San Anjonio last September and Logan took a woman with him from there. She was also arrested at Knaxville.

Here is the story of Officer Taylor, who killed Hanks?

"Harvey: Hughes and myself entered the room bunched up tegether, Harvey slightly in front. I was prepared for tron ble, for before entering the room. I had remeved my sixhooter from the scabbard remeved my sixhooter from the scabbard remeved my sixhooter from the scabbard remeved.

Source inclined his head to the right to indicate that the man was on that side of the door. When I first saw him he was sitting just to the right of the door and not neer than four feet from us. At that menoral he swing around in his chair, drawing the gum as he fill so and risting. I noticed that he pulsed his hip pocket out with the gum. He fired at once, the muzition of his weapon being almost against the city.
